We get our Zamarud products from places like Afghanistan and Central Asia. Every single Zamarud item is picked because it is good quality feels nice and comes from a real place. When we get the Zamarud items we make sure to pack them up so they stay fresh and good. We want people to have a time eating our dry fruits so we try to make everything perfect from start, to finish for people who like nice things and want to live a modern life with Zamarud.
